General Grant and the President.

The Chicago Tribune's Washington dispatch explains General Grant's presence at the interview between the President and Reconstruction Committee in a satisfactory manner. He attended the show by direction of the President and to signify that he was there under the orders of his superior officer, he took his staff with him thus putting himself in readiness for action. We presume that, in going and returning, he had his skirmish line well thrown out. This is the explanation we have expected. It fulfills all the requirements of the problem. It reveals the business of Andrew Johnson, as well as the direction of General Grant. The low cunning which suggested the employment of official authority to bring General Grant to the meeting, thus to add his respectability to the affair and at the same time to lower him in the public estimation was worthy of Andrew Johnson. But the attempt to grasp the General's coat tails, will avail nothing. It will neither lift Johnson up nor pull Grant down. While the General could neither refuse to obey the summons, nor make any official explanation of his presence in such disreputable company, yet by surrounding himself with his staff he sufficiently indicated that he was there in pursuance of orders. This was a masterly flank movement, which must have disconcerted the enemy very considerably.

The Congressional Nominee.

From the Titusville Record.

In accordance with the decision of the Congressional Conferees, we to day place at the head of our paper the name of Hon Darwin A Finney, of Meadville, as the candidate of the Union Republicans of the 20th District for Congress. The Conferees on the 17th, after nearly a month's balloting, agreed upon Mr Finney, one of the Mercer Conferees J B White, having cast his ballot for him in connection with the Conferees from his and Venango counties giving him a majority whereupon the selection was concurred in by the balance of the Convention, and made unanimous. It is a well known fact that Mr Finney was not our choice for the position and under the circumstances in which he received his credentials from this county, we did not consider him the most available candidate before the Convention but now that he is declared the choice of the Union Republicans of the District we tender to him our support. While so doing, we wish it understood that we do not acknowledge that either right or justice has been done but that for the sake of harmony and unity in our party, without which a Copperhead will be allowed to represent us in Congress, we forego all other considerations as of small importance. The issue calls for measures not men, and the Republicans of the 20th District have the welfare of the country too much at heart to think of any other course than that of sustaining the whole ticket.

The withdrawal of Captain S M Davis and F W Elsworth whose cards we publish elsewhere, leaves but a single ticket in the field and that ticket is now before the voters of the county — It is largely composed of tried soldiers whose services in the field have nobly earned this substantial recognition from the party. The ball is opened, let every Union man step into the traces and go to work and work unceasingly until the polls are closed on the second Tuesday of October, with a victory over which even loyal old Crawford can feel like hoss thus. We can do it, and we will.

How it Originated.

From the Pittsburgh Commercial

Andrew Johnson commenced to gravitate unmistakably toward the Democratic party early in the session of the Thirty ninth Congress. The loyal majority in that body deferred somewhat to his policy in the hope that a rupture between them might be averted. Some of them went further than others in this way, until a real difference appeared imminent in the Union ranks — Until the veto of the Civil Rights bill, hopes of a reconciliation were cherished by many. This veto, however, drew the line of demarcation distinctly, and had the splendid effect of uniting the Union Republicans upon a common aim, with the exception of Cowan, Doolittle, and a few others who followed the necessities of their position to its ultimatum. That veto had the equally palpable effect of placing the President upon a distinctive policy, since designated 'my policy.' This policy was obnoxious to the Union Republicans, and met with almost universal condemnation. It struck however responsive chords in both the right rebel wing and left wing of the Democratic party, inasmuch that hosannas and lamentations went up from every mouth and newspaper in that ancient institution. The President then stood by the Union and by him, thus receiving both from the conditional alternative enunciated in the 22d of February speech. The President then had an object to compass viz to stand by the Democratic party in such a way as to augment its strength and thus enable it to compete successfully with its powerful antagonist — How could he do this? He had innumerable offices at his disposal and there were innumerable applicants therefor. "You can have offices" said he, "on one condition—that you support my policy." To the shame of the Republican party it must be said, numbers who had acted with it were found susceptible of being seduced by this unmitigated bribe. This was found to be a potent lever and the unscrupulous upstart who sits in the Presidential chair knew well how to use it to the best advantage. And these it was, who in connection with the Democratic party, or perhaps it would be more correct to say the leaders of the Democratic party, organized and composed the new "National Union party." It did not originate in the brain of one, two or a dozen individuals, but took its origin in the corrupt motives and sordid desires of recreant Republicans and expectant Democrats.

President Roberts on President Johnson.

President Roberts of the Fenian Order, in his Troy speech on Friday, paid his compliment to President Johnson, in the following fashion:

From the North South East and West their adherents swarmed to fight England and gratify the vengeance of centuries. When they came to the borders they found the foe whom they little expected to meet—the United States soldiers—holding a flag threatening to hover their head which they had carried in triumph through many a battle field on this continent. The United States Government told them that they would see only what they could not help and then seized their arms. Was it right for the head of a nation whom England had tried to crush to send orders to shoot down the champions of liberty. The speaker said that on the part of the Fenian Brotherhood, he had thanked Johnson for the liberation of a prisoner, and the President said that he did so out of compliment to the men who were associated with John Mitchell, Old Seward, Johnson's satellite "suppose that the Irish were to be made catspaws of to drag English chestnuts out of the fire by producing the settlement of the Alabama claims" He had cursorily used them and used himself-up. If Johnson came before Irishmen for their votes again they ought to be strangled if they gave them. He had promised to be the Moses of the negro and he had turned out to be Pharaoh to crush them. He would like to be their Moses, but Irishmen were afraid of his turning Pharaoh again.

Speaker Colfax on the Union Dead.

Hon Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the House of Representatives, arrived home Wednesday last and was received at the depot by from 8,000 to 10,000 of his fellow citizens who extended to him a most cordial greeting. In the afternoon Mr C delivered an address in front of the Court House, the concluding paragraphs of which we append.

But, my friends if we are faithful to those who have died for us, if we remember those 300,000 graves scattered all over the South, if we remember the terrible conflict through which they have passed—how willingly, as if they went forth to the bridal leaving all their sweet friends at home to perish for their country. If we remember how their graves are insulted by the South, and their memorials invaded, how they come to spread flowers on the rebel dead and bedecking graves of those who died for the Union that not even the negro may touch them with their poisonous fingers—if we forget all this we are distained and unworthy of our children traitors. But I know you will do it the American people cannot do it, the brave soldiers cannot do it.

Only two Sundays before leaving Washington I went over on a pilgrimage to Arlington Heights the former home of the traitor Lee, and there I wandered, with other members of the House, among the unremembered graves of our fallen soldiers. It was the saddest sight I ever experienced to see the graves of those who had died and given up all for country, yet had not the poor tribute of even their names entered upon the rude wooden slab standing over them. There were eleven thousand graves lying in ranks as exact as before death they had stood in line of battle. And there I heard that Mrs Lee, within three weeks, had declared she was going to have her own again, but that she would not go back and live there again until every Northern bone was removed. Then and there I swore that if ever the question came up while my influence could be of any avail in keeping that traitor family from the now consecrated spot, my voice should be heard. [Great applause.]

I saw there, and copied at the time, a beautiful inscription upon one of the boards at the head of a grave which struck me as significant:

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead,
Dear as the blood ye gave
No traitor's footstep here shall tread
The herbage of your grave
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While fame her record keeps
Or honor marks the hallowed spot
Where loyal value sleeps.

The silent but impressive admonition of these graves comes to us saying, never surrender the interests of this great land into the hands of the men against whom they contended and who shot them down.

The Cholera and Prayer.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has issued the following prayers, on the authority of the Privy Council, which are to be read on Sundays, until further notice in all the churches of England and Wales.

O Almighty God and Merciful Father our only refuge in the time of need, we approach Thee under a deep sense of our sinfulness, and in awe of Thy judgments, which are abroad in the pestilence that has now reached our shores. We desire to humble ourselves under Thy mighty hand, confessing our iniquities, which would have justly provoked Thy wrath against us. We acknowledge with shame and sorrow that we have shown ourselves unthankful for Thy mercies, we have followed our own will rather than Thy holy law, and have not in our prosperity honored Thee as the Author and Giver of all. Take from us, we beseech Thee, all hardness of heart and unbelief all neglect of Thy ordinances, and contempt of Thy Word. Correct us, O Lord but not in Thine anger, and withdraw from us in Thine own good time the scourge with which Thou hast visited us. Give us a heart to comfort and succor all who are stricken by it, incline us to aid in ministering to their wants and assuaging their sufferings. And in the presence of this great mortality may we all be reminded that in the midst of life we are in death. Give us grace to turn from our evil ways and seek the Lord our Savior while He may be found with hearty repentance and true faith so shall we in quietness and confidence await Thy holy will, and be ready, should Thou call us, to yield up our souls to Thee, O gracious Father, in the blessed hope of everlasting life, through the mediation and for the merits of Thy Son Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O Lord God Almighty, whose are the cattle on a thousand hills, and in whose hand is the breath of every living thing, look down, we beseech Thee, in compassion upon Thy servants, whom Thou hast visited with the grievous murrain among our herds and flocks. We acknowledge our transgressions, which worthily deserve Thy chastisement, and our sin is ever before us, and in humble penitence we come to seek Thy aid — Stay, we beseech Thee, this plague by Thy word of power and save that provision which Thou hast in Thy goodness granted for our sustenance so shall we offer unto Thee the sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving for these Thy acts of Providence over us, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Mexico the Point of Interest.

Says a New York letter: The President's Mexican (anti blockade) proclamation is puzzling a good many people here, who cannot "see the point." The point," it is confidently asserted by the knowing ones has reference to the return of General Lew Wallace's quasi filibuster steamer J W Evermann, which, after having discharged her cargo of arms for the Matamoras Liberals, was at last dates lying at Brazos, getting ready to return to this port. An impertinent man of war was watching the Evermann with the intention it is believed, of making her a prize and there can be no question that it was with reference to this contingency that the President issued his proclamation.

The Evermann, as you are aware is a Philadelphia vessel. She is now figuring in an enterprise which may make her name historical. It is rumored that the same parties who forwarded the previous cargo of arms are making arrangements for repeating the dose. Whether the United States authorities will interfere or not, remains to be seen. They did not go out of their way to interfere with anybody in the former case and it is deemed quite probable that their future action or non action will be in strict accordance with precedent. In any event, look out for something exciting in the course of a very few days.

The Maritime World.

At this moment, when the laying down of the electric cable between England and America has been brought to a successful termination, the following statistics concerning the depth of water in the various seas will prove interesting. The seas have in general no great depth in the neighborhood of the Continents, for instance, the Baltic between the coasts of Germany and Sweden is only 120 feet deep, and the Adriatic between Venice and Trieste, 110.

The greatest depth of the English channel between England and France does not exceed 300 feet, while on the southwest coast of Ireland it measures more than 2,600 feet. The seas in the south of Europe are much deeper than those in the interior. In the middle of the Straits of Gibraltar the greatest depth is about 1,000 feet, but a little further to the east the depth is that of 2,000 feet. The Mediterranean, near the coast of Spain, has about 6,000.

At 250 miles south of Nantucket the bottom cannot be found after 7,800 feet depth of sounding.

The South seas are the deepest, to the west of the Cape of Good Hope the soundings give 16,000 feet, and to the west of St Helena, 27,000 feet.

Dr Young estimates the mean depth of the Pacific at about 20,000 feet, and that of the Atlantic about 25,000.

The sudden preeminence of Prussia is most distinctly seen in the manner in which the Emperor Napoleon received the refusal of his demand for extending the French frontier. He demurely said that he did not expect to get what he asked for, and only asked to satisfy public opinion in his empire.

The President telegraphed that the resolutions of the Philadelphia Convention must be so framed as not to give offence to Copperheads and reconstructed rebels. It does not appear that he was concerned to have anybody else pleased.

TERRIBLE MURDER AT LANSING, MICH

BERLIN, Prussia Aug. 22

The Prussian Commissioners have with the sanction of the Government concluded a peace with Bavaria and Hesse Darmstadt. The terms are very favorable to Prussia and in accordance with her original demands. Bavaria cedes to Prussia the northern district composed of Lohr territories, formerly called Upper Franconia, and the walled town of Culmbach. The Bavarian Government is bound to pay to Prussia thirty million florins in indemnity for her expenses in the war. Hesse Darmstadt cedes to Prussia the territory of the Landgraviate of Hesse Homburg a State which was formerly a member of the Confederation of the Rhine in the year 1817 and lies directly between Bavaria Rhenish Prussia and Birkenfeld. Prussia also claims the exclusive right to garrison the fortress of Mayence, for which duty Hesse Darmstadt hitherto contributed 200 infantry besides giving ten hundred and thirty three men to the Federal German army. Under the treaty Bavaria retains the territory of Upper Hesse, which will be joined to and incorporated with the new Confederation of Northern Germany the organization and limits of which will be arranged after the peace treaty is perfected between Prussia and Austria.

BERLIN August 22d 1866

The Prussian troops, which have penetrated into Bavaria during the occupation, adjust Austria, have commenced to evacuate the territory and it is thought they will have completed the work by the 15th of September.

PARIS, August 23

The Paris Patrie of this evening states that the Emperor Napoleon will cede Venetia as handed over to France by Austria direct to Italy to be held as part of the Kingdom of Victor Emanuel.

PESTH Hungary Aug 22

After the conclusion of peace with Prussia, the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, with the consent of his Cabinet, intends to appoint a responsible Hungarian ministry and after this act is completed the Hungarian Diet will be formally reopened in this city some time during the month of September.

LONDON, August 23

Ex Governor Eyre, of Jamaica, whose official conduct during the late negro revolt on that island has been made the subject of such an excited and lengthy canvass at home, enjoyed a public reception at Southampton yesterday. The fête was given in his honor by his friends, personal and political, and the municipal authorities took part in it. There was a banquet in the evening.

A large opposition meeting was held in the same town the same day, at which a series of resolutions condemning the conduct and rule of the ex Governor when in Jamaica were adopted with great unanimity.

ATHENS, Greece, Aug 18

The Turks have commenced active hostilities against the Christians in Candia, whom they treat as rebels against the authority of the Sultan. A number of foreign consular officers particularly those of the United States Holland and Sweden, have suffered very much damage. The Consuls have protested in the name of their respective Governments. The Christians, or insurgents, are 25,000 strong and hold important points against the Turkish soldiers.

FLORENCE, Italy, Aug 23

King Victor Emanuel has issued a decree proclaiming an amnesty to political exiles and prisoners throughout Italy and his dominions. The decree includes Mazzini as well as others of less or premier.

NAPLES, Aug 23

The report that Garibaldi was about resigning or that his resignation had been tendered to the King, is denied by those whose position would place them in possession of such a fact.

NEW YORK, Aug 24

Reports yesterday show a marked abatement of cholera in this city. But six cases and five deaths were reported. In Brooklyn the disease also continues. The steamer Bavaria and her cabin passengers have been permitted to come up to the city.

The amount abstracted from a bank vault noticed last evening is now stated at $90,000. It appears that Messrs Underwood & Co had deposited in the vault of the Marine Bank a box containing the money and securities and it was carried off by some person or persons unknown. The police have the matter in hand but with faint hope of securing the offenders.

The Herald's Vera Cruz correspondent of the 13th says that some 500 French troops sailed for France that day.

When Tampico was captured all of Mejia's division sent to reinforce the garrison turned over to the Liberals in a body on the surrender.

A general removal of Mexican officials is going on and Frenchmen put in their places.

Mazatlan was still forcibly besieged by the Liberals on the 16th of July.

The Liberals were very strong in the vicinity of Galapa.

Desultory and indecisive firing continued, during all the country.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says he has excellent authority for stating that Jeff. Davis will be released on bail or parole soon, holding himself amenable to the Court which is to dispose of his case in October next.

The Herald's special says Messrs Seward, Weed and Raymond are making desperate efforts to retain Mr Stanton in the Cabinet.

The same special says the President has intimated to Gen Howard, Chief of the Freedmen's Bureau, that his resignation would be accepted, but Gen Howard declines to resign, and the general impression is that he will be summarily ejected.

Boston Corbett yesterday received $1,684 for his share in the capture of Booth.

An order has been issued suspending the issue of rations, except to the sick, in regularly organized hospitals and to Orphan Asylums, for refugees and freedmen already existing after October first.

NEW YORK, August 24

Six cases and two deaths from cholera were reported in the city to day, and seven cases and three deaths in Brooklyn.

The amount of bonds stolen from the Marine Bank vaults is now stated to be $287,000.

BOSTON, August 24

Judge Dewey, of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, died on Wednesday at Northampton, aged 72 years.

The following is issued from the War Department of the Fenian Brotherhood.

NEW YORK CITY Aug 24

To the Centres and Circles of the Fenian Brotherhood

Centres of circles are requested to forward immediately to these headquarters the name of a competent military officer from each circle for the purpose of appointment to reorganize the military branch of each circle. Care must be taken that none but experienced and tried officers be selected.

F. W. SWEENEY, Secretary of War F. B.

PHILADELPHIA, August 24

Judge M. Scoville Speaker of the New Jersey Senate whose action prevented the election of a Republican United States Senator last winter has written a letter to the Evening Telegraph in which he reiterates his approval of the constitutional amendments passed by the last Congress and says: "I propose at the extraordinary session of the Legislature, if such a session is called, to do my duty as I understand it upon all questions which may arise, first satisfying my own conscience, then gratifying my constituents and friends."

FORTRESS MONROE Aug 22

An extensive fire has been raging for several days in the Dismal Swamp destroying the magnificent forests there. The lands are private property.

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 22

A Kanagawa (Japan) letter of July 16th says: The war of the Tycoon against Chosia has been ended by confiscating one third of the revenue of the latter, removing him from power and transferring his fiefs to his grandson.

The Japanese are sending large quantities of goods to the Paris Exposition.

The Italians, Hanoverians and Danes are trying to effect a treaty with the Japanese, who are adverse to further engagements.

WASHINGTON Aug 24

Much misunderstanding about admissions to the Paris Exposition seems to exist among some of the authorities of several States. Positively no articles will be entered or received at the Exhibition except those for which applications shall have been duly filed with and accepted by the General Agent at New York. J. C. Derby, Times building, No 41 Park row. All applications, therefore, should be promptly forwarded to him as he is required to have the descriptive catalogue ready by the 15th of next month. Although the present list of applications promises an excellent exhibition in several groups, it is deficient in a few important particulars such as rich furnishings, upholstery and decorative work, crystal and rich pottery, carpets, wall papers, cutlery, bronzes, &c., cotton and its products, wool and its products, fleeces of wool, shawls of wool, hosiery, &c., plans and models of rural buildings, fertilizing substances, apparatus and instruments for hunting, fishing and for collecting natural products, cereals, wines and fermented drinks.

Judging by the great number of claims that are daily received at the office of the Postmaster General those who believed themselves to be entitled to the bounty allowance under the act of July 28, 1866, entertain the impression that much will be gained by securing the entrance of their claims to file in the office at the earliest possible day. This is an error. The wise and the prudent among the claimants will defer remitting their claims and papers to the authorities here until they learn the nature and requirements of the regulations which are to govern the payment of these claims. These regulations may materially affect the character and terms of application, in which case the last claims received will most probably be the first settled, while those already on file may need to be returned for necessary changes. Nothing is gained to the claimants, but on the contrary much time may be lost and the examination, &c., upon claims may be greatly hindered by overhaste in submitting them for file.

Congress has furnished free transportation to Paris for goods and show cases in which to exhibit goods at the Exposition, as well as competent officers and guards to take care of them.

DETROIT August 24

A terrible murder was committed at Lansing Michigan to day. A negro named Taylor killed the wife and daughter of John Buck. Taylor was followed and arrested.

It is rumored that Colonel Henry Barnes will be appointed postmaster at Detroit.

ST LOUIS, August 24

Thirteen cemeteries report 131 cholera deaths Wednesday. Six cemeteries only reported yesterday giving 52 cholera deaths. The City Hospital reports twelve cholera deaths yesterday. Fifteen cemeteries failed to report.

Withdrawal of F. W. Ellsworth—A Clear Field for the Regular Ticket.

We yesterday published the letter of Captain Davis, withdrawing from the contest for Assembly, and to-day we have the satisfaction of presenting a similar card from F. W. Ellsworth, Esq., one of the candidates for Sheriff. This leaves a clear field for the Regular Republican nominees throughout. Captain Davis and Mr. Ellsworth, it will be remembered, were nominated by the Pettis Convention and their County Committee, after rejecting the Titusville returns of the primary meeting. The withdrawal of these gentlemen is a virtual acknowledgement of the irregularity of that proceeding, and the generosity which they exhibit in conceding the claims of the opposing candidates by retiring from the canvass, will meet with a general and enthusiastic commendation. The following is Mr. Ellsworth card, which is addressed to his home paper:

MEADVILLE, Aug. 20, 1866

EDITORS RECORD AND COURIER: Permit me, through the medium of your paper, to say a word to the Republican voters of the county. The reason for two Republican candidates of Sheriff being in the field, are so well understood by the people of the county, that it is unnecessary that I make any reference to this matter, and I hereby withdraw my name as a candidate at the approaching election. The chief cause for doing so is, that I cannot suffer my name to be used when I feel certain it will only tend to give the office and its patronage to those who are opposing our political interests, and as I believe the best interests, of our country. And I wish to avail myself of this opportunity, to say to those kind friends throughout the county, who gave me their support for nomination, that I feel very grateful to them all, and trust nothing on my part shall occur that will give them cause to regret that they have done so.

With gratitude I remain, yours, &c.,
F. W. ELLSWORTH

The only opposing candidates to the regular Republican nominees are now those of the Democratic party. The Republicans of Crawford county are once more a unit, and that fact will be abundantly demonstrated in the majority which they will roll up in October for Darwin A. Finney for Congress, J. T. Chase and Boyd Espy for Assembly, Capt. Peck for Sheriff, and the entire county ticket in detail. Now, let the work of the campaign begin in earnest.

Republican Campaign Clubs.

We observe that the Republicans of Meadville have effected an organization to be known as the "Central Republican Union Club of Crawford County." Its objects are to secure the triumph of the principles and election of the candidates of the Republican Union Party. Any legal voter may become a member of the club by subscribing the constitution, which shall be deemed a pledge that he will support the nominees of the Republican Union Party, and in every other way labor to secure the triumph of its principles and objects. We trust that similar organizations will be effected in Titusville and throughout Eastern Crawford. But a little more than one month remains before the fall election. Every school district should be thoroughly canvassed, and this important work can be best accomplished through the agency of such associations. We hope that in the course of an another week the Republican Union Club of Titusville will be in the full tide of successful operation.

A YOUNG LADY COMMITS SUICIDE BY TAKING MORPHIA.—Miss Slaten, a young lady of about sixteen years, and daughter of Cary Slaten, who resides on Gilson Ridge in Oil Creek township, about five miles from this city, was on yesterday morning found in her bed in a state of profound stupor, from which it was found impossible to arouse her. On making a little investigation it was ascertained that she had, during the night, taken a large quantity of morphia. A bottle which contained near half a drachm being found on the pantry shelf with some of the powder scattered about, and a tea cup near by, containing a teaspoon with a little syrup, showed that in the latter had been prepared the fatal dose.—Dr. Pierce of this city was summoned, but arrived too late to offer relief, as she breathed only a few times after he entered her room. The bottle of morphia had been procured by Mr. Slaten while serving as Ward Master in a military hospital, and was brought home by him several months ago, and had since occupied a place on the pantry shelf among other vials and empty bottles. From all the facts connected with the case it is evident that the act had been premeditated.

OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENSES.—V. T. Jones was yesterday brought before Justice Strouse, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. It appears that Jones, having contracted to sink a well on Morey Farm to the depth of 600 feet, made a demand upon John C. Goetchius, interested in the well, for the money due him upon completion of his contract, representing at the same time that the well was down the stipulated 600 feet. Mr. Goetchius gave him a check for the amount, and upon investigation found that the well was not only incomplete according to contract, but the tools had stuck fast. The defendant was bound over in the sum of $300 to appear at the next term of Court to answer the charge.

AN INTERESTING FAMILY GROUP.—Bull Run, Cow Run, and Calf Run are three distinct tributaries of Oil Creek, and are severally destined to become famous in their way. The Bull charges around the pasture lands of the Farel farm, the Cow meanders languidly round the Beatty farm, and the Calf skips playfully across the Gregg farm. They have a common termination and a common purpose. Bull Run produces from 800 to 1,000 barrels of oil per day; Cow Run gives down from 150 to 200 ditto; Calf is not yet sufficently "developed" to compete for such premiums, but its owners are indulging in great expectations. We hope they may be realized.

The Grand Jury of New Orleans.

The Grand Jurors of the Parish of Orleans have addressed a report to Judge Abell of the First District Court of New Orleans in regard to the late riot in that city. A careful reading of this document will show either that Dr. Dostie and his friends were perfect scoundrels or that the people of New Orleans are as innocent as doves in pretence, while guilty of diabolical murder in open practice. There is no half way business in this matter. The Grand Jury have got up a remarkable document, and one that shows on its very face the workings of rebel hate. They complain that some "few weeks since a meeting of about thirty persons met in secret caucus." "These men claimed to have the right and power, and very undisguisedly expressed the intention to remodel the Constitution of the State to suit their purposes, and to take possession or control of the State Government." And then the Grand Jury say "It is unnecessary to enter into a discussion here of the pretensions of this body of men." And then they immediately belie their statement by going into what purports to be a history of the doings of the Convention. If the men composing the Grand Jury deemed it proper to allude to the Convention and try to fix the blame upon that body, their duty certainly called them to an impartial discussion of the whole subject, but this would not suit their views. The animus of the report is made manifest by the following words: "There appears to have been some unnecessary sacrifice of life, and some unnecessary ferocity and brutality in the closing scene of this lamentable tragedy, by some persons in the crowd, until now unidentified." The honest citizens of this section of country would like to know how many lives it was necessary to sacrifice, and how much "ferocity and brutality" were necessary.

The Grand Jury conclude with these words:

"In conclusion, as these troubles have been brought amongst us by political tricksters, in an attempt to deprive us of our proper participation in our own government, and as the events of the 30th of July are sought to be tortured and misrepresented to our inquiry, we deem it not out of place to express our strong conviction that the people of New Orleans have in good faith renewed their obligations to the Government of the United States, and are now in the fullest sense loyal to the Constitution and the Union."

We will not waste words to show that it is not the province of a Grand Jury to determine questions of Constitutional law. These gentlemen were of the opinion that the Convention had no right to sit, and in fact they travel out of the legitimate sphere of their duty to argue the point. Having satisfied themselves on this head, they go on to discuss the action of the military authorities, and wind up as before mentioned. Their "conviction" must indeed be strong to warrant the language quoted. If the people of New Orleans were "loyal in the fullest sense," there ought to have been no riot. Thirty men assembled in a peaceful Convention and all unarmed, and the "loyal" men of New Orleans could not tolerate their presence. The people of Philadelphia however, tolerated the presence of hundreds of disaffected spirits at the late Convention, and did not find it "necessary to sacrifice any lives," at all. The report of this remarkable Jury is of a piece with the rest of the efforts of reconstruction and will meet with a similar fate.

Letter from Plumer.

PLUMER, PA., August 17, 1866.

Editors Morning Herald:

That "long pole" which editors are popularly supposed to have ever ready, with which to stir up all delinquents, is called for. When the mail comes through to this place, we always expect THE HERALD, but occasionally it turns out something like Dickens' "Great Expectations." Last week the paper missed one day, and this, it has already missed twice, and on each of these occasions the mail has come in. Now, just you see that "pole."

In your notice of the banking house of G. H. Bissell & Co. of Petroleum Centre, in THE HERALD of the 16th inst., you inadvertently, no doubt, neglected to mention the name of the gentlemanly Cashier, Mr J. E. Ray, who is deservedly popular with the business community, and merits all of the flattering mention which you so generously bestow. Thine, THOMAS.

[THE HERALD is regularly mailed to our subscribers at Plumer, and the irregularity of its arrival is quite as annoying to us as to our patrons. If we can ascertain the source of the difficulty we will endeavor to set it right.—ED.]

EXCISE REVENUES FOR JULY.—At the meeting of the Common Council on Thursday, Mayor Angier reported the following receipts for city licenses during the month of July:

Auctioneers	$116 00
Dogs	32 00
Public exhibitions	108 00
Peddlers	50 86
Omnibus	15 00
Livery stables	10 37
Liquor saloons	101 46
Baggage wagons	10 67
Meat market	10 00
Total	$551 36

The license fees previously collected will swell the revenues for the year to nearly $2,000. The Council certainly pursued a wise policy in the adoption of the Excise ordinance.

THE KANE HOUSE, on the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, is the halting place of the passenger trains for meals. Mr. Fred. S. Nichols is proprietor, and fully sustains in his new location the enviable reputation which he acquired as Superintendent at the McCrary House, in this city. We had the pleasure of dining with Fred on Monday last, and can testify to the abundance of good things provided for the hungry traveler.—There is no better table on the whole line of the road.

YESTERDAY was the anniversary of the terribly fatal collision on the Oil Creek Railroad, resulting in the loss of eight or nine lives, and the maiming of several other passengers. Since that shocking affair the road has been under the personal supervision of H. F. Sweitzer, and it is a sufficient commentary upon his management that not a single disastrous collision has occurred during the interval. We congratulate the company upon the results of his efficient administration.

ANOTHER ENDORSEMENT.—On our first page will be found an article from the Conneautville Record and Courier, endorsing the nomination of Hon D. A. Finney. The Record and Courier was an ardent advocate of Mr. Pettis to that position, but very properly says "the Republicans of the 20th District have the welfare of the country too much at heart to think of any other course than that of sustaining the whole ticket."

THE CROSS-CUT RAILROAD.—The Corrylinnins are very jubilant over the rapid construction of the new road. One thousand men are now at work, and more are required. It is stated that the cars will be running as far as Mayville in forty days. All the towns through which it passes have taken the quota of stock assigned to them.

NOT "THE BABY"—SOMETHING WORSE.—Considerable inquiry was made yesterday in regard to the promised "sensation." The popular conviction seems to be that it related to "that baby," but such is not the fact. The baby atrocity is nowhere in comparison. The affair of which we speak is but wait awhile.

ILLNESS OF DEAN RICHMOND.—The friends of Mr. Richmond have advices from New York that he is lying quite ill in that city at the house of S. J. Tilden.

Production of Pioneer Run.

Our reporter visited the various wells on Pioneer and Great Western Runs yesterday, and furnishes us the following estimate of their production:

FOOT OF PONY RUN.

Total production 2170

The above is the production claimed for the wells. There is a considerable amount of developments still going on, and a populous village has sprung up at the mouth of the run, called Pioneer City. Several of our citizens have opened and are preparing to open branch stores there. Mr. N. Jacobs has opened a clothing store and Mr. Einstein is about opening a cigar store near the track. The Oil Creek Railroad Company have erected a handsome and commodious depot and freight house, and several shipping platforms are in process of construction. The tank cars are found here in abundance, in fact, most of the oil on these two runs has been moved by tank cars for some time past.

The new well on Foster Farm, struck a week Thursday, and previously reported, is doing fully 200 barrels. Up to last Thursday noon 1,100 barrels had been sold, leaving 350 barrels in the tank. This well is owned by Mr. Lewis Emery, and is called the Emery well.

At one o'clock Thursday the Foster well No. 2 was started up, having just been cased, pumping a stream estimated at fully 175 barrels.

The Chatfield well, on Great Western Run, had also just started. After being cased the pressure of gas was very powerful, sounding more like steam passing through the safety-valve of a boiler, than gas from the casing of a well. It pumps a stream which might be variously estimated, but the proprietors do not wish to claim over 100 barrels. Most people, however, would claim a much larger production. This matter will soon be settled by actual measurement. The well is owned by A. R. Williams, B. P. Chatfield, W. Lowery and E. H. Tomlinson.

In the afternoon another newly cased well, lease 35½, Foster Farm, started up and was claimed to have been increased from 50 barrels to 150 barrels.

Taking this territory as a whole, it is one of the most promising and productive in the oil region.

SHERRY'S NEW YORK THEATRE.—After so long an interval it is gratifying to announce that this popular dramatic company are to return to Titusville, where they made so favorable an impression on former occasions. The nights are now cool and pleasant and the disagreeable effects of sitting in a crowded hall during the midsummer are no longer experienced. Some changes have occurred in the troupe, two or three of the old favorites having found other engagements. Their places, however, are filled by those of acknowledged merit, and the company is as strong, if not stronger than ever. The band has been added to, likewise, and, in excellence, compares with any in the State. The company have several new pieces in rehearsal which cannot fail to attract. They will open at Corinthian Hall on Monday evening, with "The Gun Maker of Moscow" and the "Irish Emigrant," a bill that will scarcely fail to attract a large and appreciative audience.

THE President and Cashier of the Petroleum Bank of Titusville, were arrested a few weeks since on the charge of discriminating in the payment of depositors after the failure of the Bank, and were held to bail in the sum of $2,000 each. The case came before the Grand Jury in the recent court at Meadville, and the charge dismissed. Mr. J. R. Madison, the Cashier, was formerly of this village, and no one of his acquaintances will believe for a moment that there was any intentional wrong in the transactions, so far as he was concerned, as his reputation for probity is above suspicion. The failure of the Bank, we were informed, was attributable to the absorption of the funds in New York by Mr. Culver, the principal stockholder, who used a large amount for the construction of railroads and other public improvements.—Fredonia Censor.

PEDDLING WITHOUT LICENSE.—A farmer was arrested in the city yesterday and taken before Justice Strouse for peddling apples without license. He was discharged on examination, the Justice holding that there was no violation of the ordinance.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FINANCIAL.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

NEW YORK, August 24.

The Post's money article says: Gold is scarce and 1 per cent is paid for delivery. The selling price, however, is lower than it was yesterday. The loan market is active at 5 per cent. Discounts are unchanged.

The stock market opened strong, but closed dull. Governments are rather better, with a disposition to sell, and large amounts are coming in from the country.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

TITUSVILLE, August 24.

The petroleum markets are unchanged from our previous quotations. There was more oil offered in the market to-day, and a limited number of sales took place at fair prices. The advance in refined oil was looked upon as a prelude to an advance in crude, and a material advance is looked upon as very probable before the close of the month. Those producers who can afford to hold are storing it they can, while the limited amount which is offered in the market may be cleared off at the first indication of an export demand.

The probable demand of this year is supposed to have been greatly under estimated. We have already exported nearly as much we did last year, and the demand for home consumption has hardly commenced. A large proportion of the stock on hand in Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Eastern ports has been sold in Europe for Fall delivery. The amount which remains for home consumption is not nearly so great as it was last year, and the production is anything but hopeful for the Fall months. We are certainly striking a great many new wells, but on the other hand those wells in existence are constantly falling off in production. Most of the wells are small pumping wells, and what with breakdowns, stoppages, alt rations, &c., &c., they cannot be said to produce more than five days in the week, while in many territories where the wells are producing from five to fifty barrels per day they do not run three days in the week on the average. When a territory is estimated, the wells are generally put down at what they produce when working, no calculation being made for stoppages. A territory which is rated at 1,000 barrels per day when all the wells are in operation, may not produce over 15,000 barrels per month, or at the rate of 600 barrels per day when the stoppages are taken into calculation. It is this fact which has misled the shrewdest calculators in their estimate of the daily production of the oil region, and which has had the tendency to depress the Eastern markets below what they might otherwise be were the supply not supposed to be so excessive. The amount of oil stored at the wells is a mere nothing to what it used to be, as a constant draining process is going on by the increased facilities for transportation. It is these facts which lead many to believe that the Eastern markets cannot long remain at the present low figures, because so soon as the Fall trade commences and a demand is made on the wells. The supply will be found not nearly so great as most operators have supposed.

PITTSBURGH OIL MARKET.

[Special to the Morning Herald.]

PITTSBURGH, August 24

CRUDE.—There was an active enquiry for crude this forenoon, and although prices were somewhat irregular a firm market and an upward tendency were unmistakable. Sellers were holding for higher figures with excellent prospects of obtaining them. Buyers seemed more anxious to purchase at the prices current during the fore part of the week, but it was only in exceptional cases that the commodity could be got at those figures. There are now no indications of a rise from the late rains, and this circumstance alone infuses strength and vitality into the market. Sales of 200 bbls. at 16c, 195 bbls. at 16c present delivery, and 890 bbls on first water at 16½c. There was a sale early in the day at 15½c, but we were unable to ascertain the quantity.

REFINED—There were no transactions in bonded oil, but buyers and sellers were on the alert and the indications at present writing are that a brisk trade will be driven this afternoon. The former prices will at least be maintained and some predict a slight advance before the close of business hours. There is but a very small quantity of bonded oil offering, and unless increased rates are offered refiners will not engage in contracts to any extent for future delivery.

Free oil was quiet, and nothing beyond nominal quotations could be ascertained.

As speedily as possible the machinery was stopped, and it was found that the girl, though very much frightened, was very little hurt.

His decision was, of course, respected.
